Enjoy space, privacy, and wide-open views from this ranch-style home on five acres. The open kitchen and living areas make the home feel comfortable and connected, while the large primary suite includes an attached office or study that works well for working from home, reading, or creating a private sitting area. Central air adds year-round comfort. Outside, the property offers a variety of fruit trees, established raised garden beds, and plenty of room to spread out. The surrounding views of the Grand Mesa are hard to miss, and thousands of acres of nearby BLM land provide easy access to outdoor recreation. A great option for anyone looking for a little more space without feeling completely removed. Seller is offering a $5,000 buyer paint/flooring credit with an accepted offer.
